EXPLOSIONS ROCK SHANGHAI

Japanese Planes Rain Bombs On Nantao

Shanghai, November 10.
Shanghai, which imagined yesterday morning that the war was removed from the exits to the frontiers, was rocked this afternoon by explosions of shells and bombs. The threatened Japanese attack on Nantao began at 2.30 p.m. While field batteries pumped shells into the city squadrons of Japanese planes rained bombs on the city. The Chinese defenders poured in effective streams of machine-gun fire to the sky and kept the gun crews busy returning shell fire.

From streets in the foreign areas upon thousands of the remaining hundreds of thousands of Chinese and foreigners watched the planes centre their attention first on warehouses on the Nantao waterfront from where columns of smoke rose to the sky. Soon the whole of Nantao was covered in a pall of smoke. Before the attack the French Concession authorities cautioned the inhabitants to keep indoors. The Japanese warning to non-combatants to evacuate Nantao caused thousands

SPANISH WAR NEWS

Barcelona, Nov. 10.
The Spanish Government has denied insurgent reports that they had asked Britain to intercede with General Franco on their behalf for a truce in the civil war. A communique states that Government troops repulsed two insurgent attacks on the Aragon front. —Reuter's Bulletin Service.

NEW RAILWAY DIRECTOR

Hankow, Nov. 10: Mr. Yen Teh-ching, newly-appointed Managing Director of the Peiping-Hankow Railway, was formally inducted to office at a brief ceremony this morning. —Central News.

The huge pile of marvellous wreaths which were received at the funeral of the four Ulster Riflemen covered the four graves completely and rose to a height of over 12 feet. No more impressive funeral has ever been held in China for British soldiers who have died at their posts, killed in this instance by Japanese shell fire.

General Chen Chien Urges Soldiers to Fight

In a lengthy statement to the soldiers of the Republic, General Chen Chien, Vice-Minister of War, urged the troops to fight to the bitter end. "It is only through a protracted war," said General Chen, "that we can defeat the Japanese." Pointing out the Japanese strategy of trying to occupy North China before the Powers could decide on any definite measures of intervention, and also their strategy to attack Shanghai and Nanking, so as to prevent the Chinese troops from concentrating their full forces in the North, General Chen continued: "Knowing fully the policy of the Japanese General Staff, the Chinese High Command has given orders for the preparation and conduct of a protracted war against Japan. We shall prolong the hostilities and we shall make the Japanese pay heavily for every inch of land that they occupy. As long as we follow strictly our plan of protracted warfare, the final victory must be ours." Declaring that fighting in the past three months have exposed the weak spots of the Japanese troops, General Chen stressed four points and urged the Chinese troops to take special note of them. "First, we should not be discouraged if one or two important cities or passes are captured by

The statue of Field-Marshal Lord Haig, which had been erected in Whitehall in front of the Scottish Office, was unveiled by the Duke of Gloucester yesterday at 3.30 p.m. A contingent of some 2,000 serving personnel from the defence forces, including representatives of the Royal Navy, the Royal Marines, the Army (including Indian, Dominion, and

ARMISTICE DAY

Arrangements for the selling of Poppies to-day are that Mrs. T. H. King is again in charge of the Hong Kong organization and Mrs. Ingram is taking charge of the Kowloon side. The University District is being looked after by Mrs. Gerrard.

Last year the amount sent Home to England was £365,171.0, excluding the proportion of the collections given to the Scottish Branch of the British Legion. In spite of many other demands which are being made at this time, the organizers hope that the amount to be sent Home this year will not be less than last year's total. The amounts collected by the Haig's Fund since 1929 are as follows:—

1929	£518,489
1930	524,650
1931	501,082
1932	483,298
1933	511,853
1934	505,628
1935	527,628
1936	542,000

Until You Pass

(To Jeanie)

By A. Newberry Choyce

And when you search through wounded France,
To find the cross that marks my rest,
I think the grass will hear you come
And tell it to my silent breast.

So for a moment in my sleep
A smile around my lips shall move
And bid my wandering soul be near
To whisper to you of my love.

To tell your heart how safe I lie
And dream my dreams all through the years;
And you will still your aching
grief,
For fear you hurt me with your tears.

No shall I wait in perfect rest,
My gladdenest dream until you pass,
To know that even death must hear
Your loving footfall in the grass.

It is hoped that all those interested in the upholding of the principle of peace in international affairs will earnestly endeavour to attend.

WHERE THE POPPY MONEY GOES

People must often wonder how the amounts raised each year by the Earl Haig's British Legion Appeal are disbursed. A study of the Report shows that practically every Fund founded as a result of the War receives help. Here is a list of some of them:—

Grants for Relief of Distress, Grants for Employment, British Legion Schemes such as Officers' Benevolent Department, Prince of Wales' British Legion Pension Fund, Preston Hall, Disabled Men's Industries Sales, Ltd., Burnham Hall, St. Dunstan's, King's Roll Clerks' Association, Deafened Ex-Service Men's Fund, "Lest We Forget" Association, Incorporated Association of Blind Ex-Service Men, Spero Leather Workers, Royal Alfred Institution, Queen Alexandra Hospital (Worthing), St. David's Home, Royal Victoria Patriotic Fund, Earl Jellicoe Memorial Fund, Ex-Imperial Organisations, Cleveland Training Centre, Trex, Limited, Disabled Men's Workshops (Cp. bridge), Lord Roberts' Memorial Workshops, Star and Garter Home, Tavistock Clinic, Disabled Sailors and Soldiers' Workshops (Bournemouth), Council for the Promotion of Occupational Industries, Area Housing Scheme, Friends Committee of Land Settlement Association, Ltd., King's Roll War Disabled Men's Association, Hedingham Rover Scout Training Camps and Employment Scheme.

SINO-JAPANESE CONFLICT

NO SETTLEMENT IN DIRECT NEGOTIATIONS

Is Chinese Belief

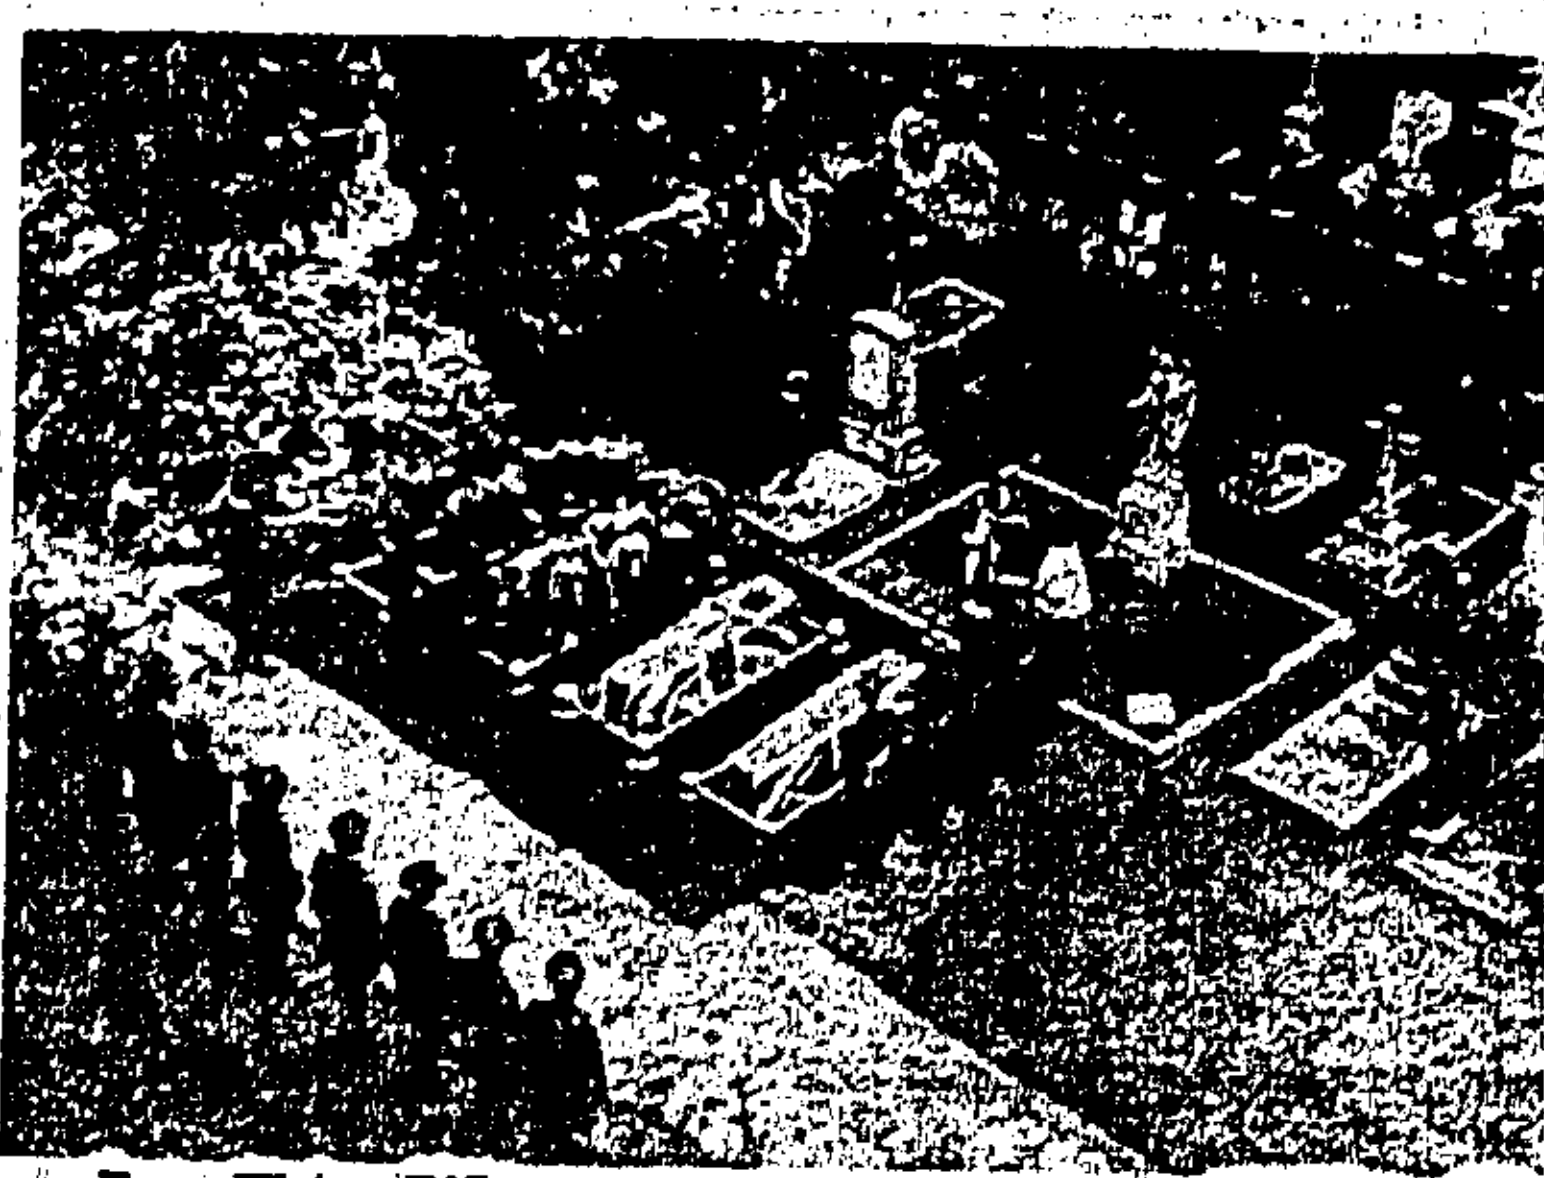

Brussels, Nov. 10.
In order to dissipate various rumours concerning his visit to Germany General Chiang Pao-li in a statement to-day said that the purpose of the visit was to state the real position of China in the Sino-Japanese conflict and, there was no truth in the report that mediatory efforts between third parties outside the Brussels Conference were being considered by China.

China for the last four or five years had been negotiating directly with Japan with regrettable fruitless results therefore the Chinese Government believes that direct negotiations will not settle the present conflict but afford another opportunity for Japan to impose unreasonable terms upon China; terms as unacceptable to the Nine-Power signatories as to China. —Reuter.

LOSSIEMOUTH SHOCKED

Knew Late Ex-Premier Only As 'Jim'

London, Nov. 10.
Lossiemouth is shocked by the news of Mr. Ramsay MacDonald's death which has come as a personal loss to all the inhabitants who knew the ex-Premier only as "Jim"; nobody called him Ramsay. The late Mr. MacDonald will be buried among "his ain folk" and beside his wife in the cemetery at Spynie Kirk. —Reuter.

Four Ulster Riflemen were laid to rest in Bubbling Well Cemetery after they had been killed by Japanese shell fire on October 29. The largest military funeral ever to take place in China was given them. The photo shows their regimental pall bearers lowering the third coffin into the grave whilst the officers of the Regiment stand to attention at the bottom of the picture.

Vice-Chancellor --And Friend

A large gathering, including many distinguished guests, testified in the Roof Garden of the Hong Kong Hotel yesterday to the popularity and esteem in which Sir William Hornell, Kt., C.B.E., retiring Vice-Chancellor of the Hong Kong University, is held. The occasion was the tea-dance given by the Hong Kong University Alumni Association in farewell to Sir William, its Honorary Vice-President, and to welcome Mr. D. J. Sloos, C.B.E., its new Vice-President. Besides Sir William and Mr. Sloos there were present, Dr. Li Shu-pui (President of the Association), Mr. D. J. N. Anderson (Vice-President), Professor and Mrs. R. E. M. Simpson, Professor W. L. Gerrard, Professor C. A. Middleton-Smith, Commodore and Mrs. E. B. C. Dickson, Captain and Mrs. E. G. N. Rushbrooke, Father G. Byrne, Mr. W. Kay, Mr. A. Morse, Mr. F. H. Bin, Mr. F. Zimmerman, Miss Anna Ho, the Misses Tse, and many others. After tea and prior to the commencement of dancing, Dr. Li, addressing the gathering, said:—
Sir William Hornell, Vice-Chancellor Mr. Sloos, Ladies and Gentlemen:—
This is a most auspicious occasion in the history of the Alumni Association, yet it is with happy and sad feelings that we are gathered here this afternoon.

KAITANGATA TRAGEDY

Cause Of Fire Fixed At Court Of Inquiry

The inquiry into the circumstances surrounding the fire on board the s.s. Kaitangata, was concluded before the Hon. Comdr. J. B. Newell, D.S.O., R.N. (retd.), Acting Harbour Master (President), Lt.-Comdr. M. V. Keogh, R.N., H.M. Naval Dockyard, Mr. W. O. Lambert, Government Marine Surveyor, Capt. C. Asquith, master of the s.s. Scallaria, and Capt. N. Hardie, master of the s.s. Kingyuan, at the Marine Court yesterday.

The finding of the Court was: "The s.s. Kaitangata, Official Number 125,625, was on a voyage from Hong Kong to Haiphong with a cargo of 25,342 cases of aviation spirit and 995 cases of lubricating oil.

"The ship left Hong Kong at 5.47 a.m. on October 24 and experienced light north-easterly winds and a slight swell.

"On October 25, when in a position Lat. 21° 40' North, Long. 111° 0' East, a violent explosion occurred in No. 2 hold at a few minutes after mid-night.

"The flames spread rapidly and explosions occurred in other holds and the ship was eventually abandoned and sank with a loss of 18 Chinese members of the crew; another member of the crew subsequently died from injuries received.

REASONABLE SUPPOSITION

"The cargo appears to have been well stowed, hatches were covered with tarpauling and ventilators plugged.

"We are of the opinion that gasoline vapour found its way from No. 2 hold to the stokehold and was ignited when the fires were being cleaned.

"We are unable to say definitely how the vapour arrived in the stokehold but there is a reasonable supposition that it leaked through the wooden fore bulkhead of the cross bunker, thence through the cross bunker and the water-tight doors in the stokehold bulkhead.

"In these circumstances we consider that a flash-back to the source from which the vapour originated may have taken place resulting in the first explosion in No. 2 hold.

"We make the following recommendation: That when low-flash inflammable liquids are stowed under hatches, they should only be carried in compartments, the bulkheads of which are gas tight and without openings and such cargo should not be adjacent to the boiler room."

MAN AND WIFE FALL OUT

Woman Charges Husband For Assault

Domestic troubles culminating in a fight led to the appearance before Mr. R. Edwards at the Central Magistracy yesterday of Lai Wai, 35, unlicensed hawker, and Yiu Ngan, 31, his wife. The former was in the dock while the woman was complainant.

Sub-Inspector Armitt said the man had asked his wife for ten cents with which to buy opium. She refused him and in the subsequent struggle she scratched him over the eye and he inflicted a fairly long cut on her forehead. The matter was referred to the Secretariat for Chinese Affairs, but defendant refused to take any advice and was charged with assault.

Remarking that neither had the right to injure the other, His Worship bound both over in $50 for six months.

CHANGE OF ADDRESS NOT REPORTED

Solomon Alexandrovich Vithenson, aged 27, was fined $10 by Mr. R. Edwards at the Central Magistracy yesterday on a charge of breach of the Deportation Ordinance, by failing to notify his change of address from the Y.M. C.A., Kowloon, to No. 48 Peking Road, second floor on or about October 1.

HEALTH RETURNS

Two cases of diphtheria and three of dysentery were reported to the Health Authorities for the 24 hours ended at midnight on Tuesday.

We are happy, because this is the first time we have the pleasure of meeting our new Vice-Chancellor, Mr. Sloss. It is fitting that I should on behalf of the members of this Association, extend to Mr. Sloss our heartiest welcome.

Before coming to Hong Kong, I understand that Mr. Sloss has had a very distinguished career, which marked him preeminently as an able educator and fine organizer. We are confident that in all future affairs of the Alumni Association we shall obtain from him the same ready support and whole-hearted encouragement as we have obtained from our ever popular retiring Vice-Chancellor.

Sir William Hornell

We are sad, because at this same meeting, we are bidding farewell to Sir William Hornell. I need hardly say that during Sir William's 14 years of active service, our Alma Mater has been greatly grown and strengthened largely through his untiring efforts.

Among other great achievements of his, may I recall your memory to the successful efforts he has made in securing for this University a share of the Boxer Indemnity Fund? We have not forgotten how he succeeded in obtaining the Rockefeller Foundation Fund for the Medical Faculty, the William Peel and the Ho Tung Workshops for the Engineering Faculty, the Tung Ping Shan and the Tang Chi Ngong donations for the Chinese Departments of the Arts Faculty, and not the least, the Eu Tong Sen Gymnasium. These are but some of the notable milestones of progress of our youthful Alma Mater, of which Sir William was largely instrumental in the making.

CROWNING ACHIEVEMENT

But to us, the crowning achievement of Sir William is the formation of this Alumni Association. Its birth is due directly to his splendid efforts. It was in 1931 when only a few of us were privileged to know, that he cabled to Dr. Foo Ping Sheung, our first President, requesting him to come to Hong Kong with the object of forming an Alumni Association, similar to those Mr. Foo had successfully organised in Canton, Shanghai and Nanking.

It is common knowledge that Sir William is one of those zealous persons, who do not allow grass to grow under their feet, and this

WHITEAWAY'S LOSE NAPKINS

Tailor Gets Month's Imprisonment

Detective-Sergeant J. Feely appeared before Mr. R. Edwards at the Central Magistracy yesterday to prosecute Luk Tsai, 28, tailor, on a charge of larceny of 13 napkins from Whiteaway, Laidlaw & Co. on Tuesday.

It was stated that Whiteaway's had been missing small quantities of goods of this description for some time, though there was no evidence to connect defendant with this. The napkins were valued at $25.

One month's hard labour was imposed.

CLAIM AND COUNTER CLAIM FAIL

A claim for $39.58 and a counter-claim for $87.42 both failed in the summary Court yesterday before Mr. Justice Lindsell. The Kwong Lee Leung Firm sued Ng Yip for $39.58 which they said was balance due out of money advanced for goods sold and delivered.

Ng Yip sued the Kwong Lee Firm for $87.42 which he alleged was balance due for wages and costs of the action.

In both cases judgment was given for the defendants.

cannot be better illustrated than on Christmas Eve 1932, when although ill in bed, Sir William still found energy to write to an old graduate, Mr. Hong Sing, urging him to co-operate with Dr. Foo in the formation of this Association. His keen interest and generosity were evident on the day when this Association was inaugurated. On that occasion he provided refreshments at his own expense. I understand that he has provided refreshments similarly at every subsequent annual meeting since 1932.

UNIVERSITY CLUB

Yet another important social organ was established in 1931—I refer to the University Club which was formed mainly through the efforts and advice of Sir William. Later, with the view to improving the Club service, he made recommendations to the Public Works Department for installation of a kitchen, which was approved and put up at the Club premises. Thereafter, members enjoyed many a delightful tiffin at which Sir William was seldom absent.

Being constantly on the watch for the Association's welfare, he succeeded in securing for this Association, the appointment of one of its members as a representative on the University Court. This is significant in that the Alumni Association was for the first time given a binding link to its Alma Mater.

It would be impossible to enumerate all the fine things Sir William accomplished for the University. Words cannot express our true feelings and how much we shall miss him when he departs for Home.

On behalf of the members of the Hong Kong University Alumni Association, may I ask Sir William to be so good as to accept a screen here, on which is embroidered a Chinese verse, in expression of our great esteem and gratitude for all he has done. We sincerely hope that the screen will be the means of reminding him of his past students in Hong Kong.

We are indeed sorry he is leaving us, and though we would like to be selfish in keeping him, we know his retirement is well earned; so when he leaves, our nearest wishes for his every happiness go with him.

RECIPES FOR RABBIT

Properly cooked, a nice rabbit takes a lot of beating. It can be made to taste as good as chicken, but care must be taken when choosing it.

Blunt and rugged claws, ears dry and tough, prove that bunny is old. Claws that are smooth and sharp, and ears which tear easily, prove that the rabbit is young.

Here are some tasty ways of serving rabbit.

LARDED—WITH HERBS

Larded rabbit is a tempting savoury.

Joint the young rabbit, roll each piece in strips of bacon fat, sprinkle with pepper and salt, dredge with flour, and fry in hot fat until lightly browned.

Put into a casserole, cover with stock, and add a slice of lemon, pepper and salt to taste, a teaspoonful of mixed herbs (bay leaf, parsley, thyme), a couple of cloves, and one or two peppercorns.

Cover closely, and simmer gently until the rabbit is tender.

FLAVOURSOME CURRY

Curried rabbit is something different and very tender fare. The ingredients are: 1 rabbit, 4oz. cooked rice, 3oz. drippings, 2 onions, 1 apple, 1 teaspoonful of desiccated coconut, 1 pint stock, 1 tablesp. of curry powder, 1 tablesp. of flour, juice of a lemon and a little salt.

Wash and dry the rabbit, and divide it into small joints, slice the apple and onions.

Heat the fat in a stew pan, and fry the rabbit in this until browned. Remove, put in the sliced onions, and fry till deep brown.

Add the curry powder, coconut and flour, and fry for ten minutes. Stir in the stock and, when boiling, replace the rabbit, add the apple, and salt to taste, and cover.

Simmer for 1½ hours and before serving add the lemon juice.

POPULAR PIE

A hungry man will appreciate this.

Wash and joint a rabbit, and arrange in a pie-dish with ½ lb. cut up pork. Season, half fill with stock or cold water, cover with greaseproof paper and cook in a moderate oven for an hour; mark 4.

Add a little dissolved gelatine to the gravy and leave to cool, then cover with rough puff pastry and bake for half an hour in a hot oven.

SATISFYING PUDDING

Savoury and satisfying. Wash and joint the rabbit, excluding the head, liver and neck; they can be stewed for gravy. Season with salt, mixed herbs, and a small chopped onion. Sprinkle with flour and ½ lb. minced pork.

Line a large pudding basin with suet crust, fill with the rabbit and pork, cover with stock or cold water, and top with a thickish piece of crust.

Cover with greased paper, then with a pudding cloth, tie down and boil for 2½ hours. Serve with thick gravy, potatoes and mashed turnips.

WITH SAVOURY SAUCE

Bolled rabbit, removed from the bones and cut up, tastes good with this savoury sauce.

Boil 1oz. macaroni in slightly salted boiling water until soft. Strain, then mix with a small chopped onion, 1 pint milk and seasoning.

Add two or three skinned and sliced tomatoes, simmer for half an hour, then pour the mixture over the rabbit. Sprinkle 2oz. grated cheese cover the top.

SPAGHETTI RINGS WITH SAUTED SHRIMP

Cook

1 8-oz. pkg. spaghetti (broken in pieces) in boiling water until tender, then drain. Melt.

2 tablespoons shortening; when hot add

3 tablespoons minced onion and 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper and saute for 5 minutes. Beat

3 egg yolks and mix well with 1 cup milk. Add to onions and pepper and then add

1 cup tomato puree. Dash salt

1 cup grated cheese. Spaghetti (mentioned above—cooked)

1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce. Mix thoroughly. Fold in whites of

3 eggs—pour into a ring form, set in hot water and bake 45 minutes in a slow oven (300 deg. F.). Turn out on platter and fill center with

1 cup cooked shrimp (6 oz.)

1 cup cooked green peas—that have been sauted in

2 tablespoons of butter. Six servings.

TRY MAKING THESE SCONES

Scones can be mixed and baked so quickly that they are splendid for an emergency—as well as being a most welcome addition to tea in the ordinary way.

Below you will find some special favourites and these include both "Sweet Scones," with sugar in them, and therefore specially suitable for afternoon tea, as well as "Plain Scones," suitable either for breakfast, luncheon or tea.

Here are a few tips about scone-making generally.

Always sieve the flour and raising before rubbing in the fat.

Use sour milk, or buttermilk, if possible, as they help to neutralise the alkali in the soda, and also make lighter scones. The exact quantity required varies according to the flour you are using, so always add the milk fairly slowly. The resultant dough should be soft and easily rolled, but never sticky. Roughly about a gill of milk should be allowed to half a pound of flour; where an egg is included in the ingredients, a little less milk can be used.

Cook scones on a baking tin, sprinkled with sieved flour, and in a hot oven.

A hot oven is essential for scones as they must rise quickly without spreading if they are to be light.

Half a pound of flour makes roughly about twelve medium sized scones.

MILK SCONES

8 ozs. plain flour.

1½ ozs. butter.

Teaspoonful baking powder.

Good pinch of salt.

About 1 gill of milk.

Sieve the dry ingredients together, and then rub in the butter. Add sufficient milk to make a nice spongy dough.

Shape into little cottage loaves, or break off small pieces, form into rolls and then twist into horse-shoes.

Brush them over with milk, and bake in a quick oven (Regulo Mark 7) for fifteen to twenty minutes.

RAISIN SCONES

8 ozs. plain flour.

3 ozs. stoned chopped raisins.

Small egg.

1 oz. butter.

Milk to mix.

1 teaspoonful each of cream and tartar, bicarb. of soda.

Sieve the flour into a basin, and rub in the butter. Then add the rest of the dry ingredients. Beat the egg and add, and lastly add sufficient milk to make a fairly stiff dough. Roll out on a floured board, cut into fairly large rounds, brush over with beaten egg, mark into four with a knife, and bake in a quick oven (Regulo Mark 7) for 15-20 minutes.

AFTERNOON TEA SCONES

8 ozs. plain flour.

Teaspoonful cream of tartar.

1½ butter or lard.

1 egg.

Pinch of salt.

1 teaspoonful bicarb. soda.

1 teaspoonful castor sugar.

About 1 gill milk.

Sieve the dry ingredients into a basin, and then rub in the butter or lard. Then add the beaten egg and the milk. Knead into a dough, turn on to a floured board and roll out lightly. Cut into rounds with a cutter 1½ inches in diameter. Bake in a quick oven (Regulo Mark 8) for about 10 minutes.

CREAM SCONES

8 ozs. plain flour.

Teaspoonful baking powder.

2 small eggs.

1 teaspoonful salt.

4 ozs. butter.

2 teaspoonfuls grain sugar.

2 tablespoonfuls cream.

Sieve the dry ingredients into a basin, and rub in the butter lightly. Add the well-beaten eggs and the cream. Knead to a dough, turn on to a floured board and roll out ½ inch thick. Cut into squares, brush over with white of egg, sprinkle with castor sugar and bake in a hot oven (Regulo Mark 7) for 15 minutes.

SIMNEL CAKE

8 ozs. brown sugar.

1½ teaspoonful baking powder.

Pinch of salt.

6 ozs. butter.

8 ozs. sultanas.

Pinch of mixed spice.

4 ozs. currants.

4 eggs.

4 ozs. chopped, mixed peel.

Beat the butter and sugar to a cream, add the eggs slowly, and lastly, all the dry ingredients. Put half the mixture into a lined tin and smooth down lightly. Have ready some almond paste, made by mixing together 8 ozs. ground almonds, 10 ozs. sugar (half castor, half icing), a teaspoonful each of sherry, rum, lemon juice, and vanilla, and enough egg to make into a dough. Cut out a round of this the size of the cake and put on the mixture, pressing down the rest into a nest and put in the centre. Mark round the edges with the back of a knife, brush over with beaten yolk of egg and put the cake into a very hot oven for a few minutes to turn the almond paste a golden brown. When cold, fill the nest with little sugar eggs.

POMP OF LORD MAYOR'S SHOW

Premier Says Britain Has Faith In Brussels

BRILLIANT TABLEAU

London, Nov. 9.

A pageant of Empire produce and trade was the central feature of the Lord Mayor's Show which was witnessed in London to-day by immense crowds in sunny weather. The procession wound through miles of streets.

The Empire pageant consisted of tableaux illustrating the main branches of the Empire's resources.

To impress upon the man-in-the-street the importance of agriculture in England and Wales, nine tableaux portrayed various aspects of this industry.

One "float" represented next year's Empire Exhibition at Glasgow, which will be the biggest since the Wembley exhibition.

Sixteen bands, and regular and auxiliary forces, preceded Sir Harry Twyford, the new Lord Mayor, who was riding in his State chariot, while the ancient City Guilds were represented by their respective quaintly styled officers.

The new Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress were central figures in a spectacular tableau to-night, at a reception preceding the Lord Mayor's banquet in Guildhall. In the blue-carpeted library of Guildhall, Sir Harry Twyford stood in his magnificent gold and black robes while through a long avenue of Common Council men in their blue robes guests approached him. Ambassadors, Cabinet ministers, bishops, judges and chiefs of services came in a constant procession to form one of the most brilliant companies. The most distinguished guests were announced by fanfare of trumpets, including the Lord Chancellor, who was preceded by the Great Mace of his office. The final fanfare announced the Prime Minister, Mr. Neville Chamberlain, who will speak later in reply to the toast of His Majesty's Ministers.—British Wireless.

HOPE IN BRUSSELS

London, Nov. 9.

The Far East figured in the Premier's speech at the Lord Mayor's banquet at the Guildhall to-night when he stated that the Government believed the most hopeful means of achieving the cessation of fighting in order to allow of a settlement on a proper basis, lay in the Brussels conference.

"But the essential factor for the success of any endeavour to bring about a settlement was the co-operation of the United States, of

CHINESE IN SHANGHAI

Status Not Affected By Change In Situation

Shanghai, Nov. 10.

"The sudden change in the military situation around Shanghai will not prompt the Shanghai Municipal Council to change its original intention of making the International Settlement a place of refuge for Chinese and foreign residents," declared a high Council official to the "China Press."

He continued to say that Chinese newspapers and public organisations would continue to have their customary status as long as their activities were compatible with law and order.

The official emphatically denied a Japanese report that "in view of the increased Japanese influence in the sectors north of Soochow Creek, the Council is contemplating an increase in the number of Japanese officials on the Council." He said that no such increase was ever discussed since the outbreak of hostilities.—Reuter.

CHINESE UNEASY

War Secretary On Army's New Privilege

which the conference had been assured by Mr. Norman Davis.

The prolongation of this unhappy conflict could only result in increasing damage to the great nations concerned, and Britain anxiously awaited the day when the differences would be composed.

Mr. Chamberlain added that the Government regarded the readiness of the United States to co-operate in the Brussels conference as the first and most valuable step towards the fulfilment of the desire, expressed by President Roosevelt at Chicago, for a concerted effort by the peace-loving nations to assure the sanctity of treaties and the settlement of difficulties by peaceful means. They were convinced that a closer understanding and a more complete community of purpose between Britain and the United States might do much to assist the cause for which President Roosevelt pleaded, and which was nearest Britain's heart.—Reuter.

The War Secretary, Mr. Hore-Belisha, told the House of Commons at question time that recruiting had been steadily improving in recent months. Figures to be issued to-night for the London area would again show a striking increase of over 100 per cent compared with the corresponding week of last year.

He denied that there had been any lowering in the standard of physique for the Army medical examination, but caused some amusement by admitting that he had authorised the removal of the limitation on the number of false teeth allowed to soldiers.—British Wireless.

GRAVES IN BATU CAVES

European Planter's Discovery

An extraordinary report by a European that he found a number of dead bodies in a cave near the well-known Batu Caves in Kuala Lumpur caused considerable excitement in Kuala Lumpur recently.

A police party under Mr. A. E. Jakeman, assistant to the O.S.P.C., Kuala Lumpur went hurriedly to the scene accompanied by a doctor. The party spent an hour cutting through jungle and found an entrance to an hitherto undiscovered cave.

Led by the informer, Mr. R. J. Godber, an assistant on Highlands Estate, Klang, the party waded through water breast deep and found five graves on dry ground. The graves were opened and examined and it is believed they are over ten years old. The Tamil priest living in the temple nearby says he knew of the existence of the graves for over twenty years. Mr. Godber is believed to have been exploring the caves when he came upon the graves.

NAZIS DESTROYING GERMAN MUSIC

Famous Pianist's Criticism

"I told Australia frankly, how Hitler has ruined the musical art of Germany by expelling the Jews, who always have been her greatest artists. Huberman, Arthur Schnabel, the famous pianist interpreter of Beethoven and the conductors Bruno Walter and Felix Weingartner no longer appear in Germany," said Arthur Rubenstein, famous pianist, who is a Polish Jew, in an interview in Singapore recently while on his way back to Europe and America after a successful Australian tour.

"I have been surprised at the genuine appreciation by Australians of good classical music. Everyone of my 24 concerts was packed. Afterwards I was simply overwhelmed with letters and telegrams," he said.

Rubenstein added that the private impresarios have little chance in Australia, now that the Australian Broadcasting Commission was wisely controlling the importation of artists.

Next year the A.B.C. have engaged Dr. Malcolm Sargent, the famous English conductor for a return visit, and Alexander Kipnis, one of the greatest basses in Europe, will tour as well as famous Polish violinist whose name has not been announced yet.

KING'S VISIT TO WEST COUNTRY

When the King visits the West Country at the end of this month, the first day of the tour will include visits to Princeton, Tavistock, Launceston Castle, Liskeard Bodmin and Camborne.

At Launceston Castle, the very old custom of the presentation of fudal dues will take place. Tenants from the Scilly Isles will gather at Camborne to meet their Majesties.

The King will spend the night in the Royal train, and on the following day will visit Taunton and a large number of villages on his way to Bath, where he will, in train, for London.—

NEW VETERINARY COLLEGE

Splendid Buildings Opened By King

London, Nov. 9.
The Queen, accompanied the King to-day when he opened the new building of the Royal Veterinary College and Hospital.
The College was founded in 1791, and its new buildings have been erected at a cost of about £295,000, towards which the Government gave £150,000. The full scheme provides for the erection of a large animals' hospital in future.

The group of buildings includes a research institute in animal pathology, and a free clinic for the treatment of animals of the poor, as well as a canine hospital and an animal husbandry department and research laboratories. The main college block accommodates four teaching departments of medicine, anatomy, pathology and physiology, as well as a general assembly hall, library, lecture theatres and others.—

SCHEME TO RELIEVE TUBE CONGESTION

An interesting experiment for the relief of over-crowding on tube-trains at rush hours is being tried by the London Transport Board.

The usual seven-coach trains on the Edgware to Morden Line have two additional coaches attached, which are reserved for passengers travelling between a certain number of stations in outer suburbs and Tottenham court road, which is the busiest station in the central London section of this line at these hours. Two "through" carriages remain in the tunnel at all intermediate stations.

The operation of the new scheme will be watched closely by Transport Board officials to see if it provides any alleviation of congestion. With trains running to the capacity of platforms and at the closest possible intervals consistent with safety, no further relief except by a device of the sort now under test appears possible.—

CHINESE NOT DRIVEN CLEAR OF SHANGHAI

Preparing Stiff Defence Between Clashes

JAPANESE BOMB NANTAO

Shanghai, Nov. 10. Desperate fighting has started in the southern border of the French Concession, along Zahwei Creek and Sicaowai Creek. French troops and police are lining the north bank of Sicaowai Creek and tens of thousands of Chinese refugees have been packed into the French Concession streets running north of the creek. They are watching the Japanese tanks exchanging a furious battle with the Chinese posts.

Shanghai now presents the most appalling picture of misery since the hostilities began as refugees and wounded people, all homeless and destitute, wander aimlessly through the streets of the Concession and Settlement. Reuter.

NEW DEFENCE WORKS
Shanghai, Nov. 10. New defence works have been completed by the Chinese forces on the east bank of Jihnuikang, on Nantao whilst all bridges leading to the defence area have been destroyed with dynamite to prevent the advance of the Japanese.

Japanese forces are now maintaining positions on the west bank of Jihnuikang. So far no Japanese troops have appeared in the Whangpoo River along the Nantao Bund.

A skirmish occurred yesterday noon between Chinese sentries and 300 Japanese vanguards around Sicaowai. The invaders were later reported repulsed. Central News.

CHINESE HOLDING SEVERAL AREAS IN SHANGHAI
Shanghai, Nov. 10. Though not a base of military operations, Nantao will be defended at all costs by the Shanghai police and the regular troops so as to give enough time to the Chinese inhabitants to evacuate from the war zone, explained Mr. O. K. Yui, Mayor of Greater Shanghai in an interview with the Central News Agency last night.

Mayor Yui pointed out that despite their withdrawal from the south bank of the Sicaowai Creek, the Chinese forces are still holding Nantao, Pootung, Pusung and Tsaochochin in the Greater Shanghai municipal area. Central News.

WARNING TO EVACUATE
Shanghai, Nov. 10. The Japanese authorities have warned all non-combatants in Nantao to evacuate as the Japanese Army and Navy will begin their mopping-up operations this afternoon.

The warning, it is believed, heralds renewed land and naval shelling and air bombing. Reuter.

NANTAO WILL BE DEFENDED AT ALL COSTS

Shanghai, Nov. 10. In accordance with instructions of the highest Chinese military command the Shanghai police will defend Nantao at all costs, declared General Tsai Ching-chun, Director of the Police Bureau of Great Shanghai, in an interview with the Central News Agency late last night.

He was confident that the police who have already displayed their remarkable heroism in the recent defence of the Civic Centre will further prove their mettle in the defence of Nantao and will suffer whatever sacrifice for the glory of the nation. Central News.

NANTAO AND FOOTUNG BOMBED

Shanghai, November 10: Twelve Japanese planes subjected Nantao and Footung to further bombings yesterday.

A large number of bombs were rained on Yangchiatu at Footung and on Kaoshangmiao and Kiangnan Dockyard at Nantao, causing several big fires. Two bombs were released at the South Station, damaging a section of the track. Central News.

The Japanese threat is the curtain raiser for either a grim drama or a farce. Armed Chinese forces in Nantao can escape anytime they wish by laying down their arms and entering the French Concession where they will be placed in concentration camps for the duration of the hostilities and could also cross the Whangpoo to Footung which up to now has not been occupied by the Japanese forces. But the real tragedy of the situation would be the destruction of Nantao for which the Japanese can now claim full justification. Reuter.

CHINESE EVACUATE SOOCHOW CREEK

Shanghai, Nov. 10: Following the withdrawal of the Chinese troops from the south bank of the Sicaowai Creek, Chinese living in the adjoining areas began a general evacuation yesterday.

Those in the western section entered the International Settlement through Hungjiao Road and were accommodated in the Chiao-tung University whilst those who evacuated from Sicaowai and other places in the neighbourhood went into the French Concession and Nantao by way of Fenglinchiao.

The evacuation, lasting throughout yesterday, was carried out in very orderly manner. Central News.

JAPANESE CLAIMS

Shanghai, Nov. 10. While a column of Japanese troops yesterday swept around the British and French perimeters in Shanghai, another Japanese force advanced to meet the Chinese units, proceeding northward from Mingshong Junction, and expected to-day.

The Japanese claim the complete occupation of Sungkiang, from where the northward advance is stated to be continuing. They also claim to have reached the outskirts of Nanshiang which they are confident of capturing very shortly.

Part of the Chinese forces which withdrew from the western front are now pivoted at Tsipao, ten miles south-south-east of Nanshiang, whence the Chinese line runs to Liuh.

LAND MINES

The Japanese have announced that in view of the danger of land mines and unexploded hand grenades, areas west of the Shanghai-Hangchow Railway may be closed to the public, but they will be opened as early as possible.

Interest now centres in the position at Nantao. A small Japanese force has already reached the west camp of Sicaowai Creek, but it remains to be seen whether the Chinese forces east of the creek will really stage another "Doomed Battalion" drama.

Present indications are ominous as the Chinese forces, besides digging trenches, and making other warlike preparations, have warned the remaining non-combatants to evacuate.

Sporadic machine-gun fire was exchanged across the creek throughout the night.

LUNGHWA PAGODA

Although in Chinese territory, the area embracing the famous Sicaowai Observatory, Cathedral and Jesuit mission, outside of French Concession, is not in Japanese hands. French troops have extended their perimeter to include it.

Less fortunate were the historic Lungghwa temple and pagoda, over which the Japanese flag now flies. Chinese Buddhist priests, who had not evacuated, have been allowed to remain unmolested.

The agreement for the refugee zone at Nantao became effective at 5 p.m. yesterday. Reuter.

CITY OF FIRES

Shanghai, Nov. 10. Although warfare is still at the doorstep, Shanghai experienced a quiet night.

The Chinese spent the night busily strengthening their defences for the expected onslaught to-day. Meanwhile, Shanghai is again a city of many fires, which extend from the Nanshiang area to the western district outside of the Settlement and thence to Nantao.

More than 30 different fires are burning, 20 of which are at Nantao and west of Zahwei Creek.

Though the Nantao refugee zone was opened at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, owing to the possibility of serious hostilities in other parts of Nantao, most of the refugees still prefer the sanctuary of the foreign areas. Reuter.

WELL DISCIPLINED TROOPS

Shanghai, Nov. 9. In view of the Japanese attack on Nantao, the influx of Chinese refugees into the International Settlement and the French Concession has again increased, confronting these districts with a serious problem.

Panic-stricken inhabitants of Nantao thronged the gates of the French concession, and it is stated that more than 100 were injured. The rush of refugees from Footung likewise continued. About 1000 scattered Chinese soldiers, carrying a number of wounded with them, were disarmed when they entered the Settlement. Some others, who refused to be disarmed, preferred to march on. The troops of the Chinese Central Government in Shanghai still continue to preserve a well disciplined attitude. Transocean News Service.

JAPANESE LAND IN HANGCHOW BAY

Tokyo, Nov. 9. According to Japanese reports, the Japanese detachments, that landed at Hangchow Bay on November 5, have continued their march northward. They occupied Sungkiang, 30 kilometres south-west of Shanghai, and only 20 kilometres from the Japanese lines there.

The Japanese advancing from Shanghai in a south-easterly direction occupied Tsipao, 10 kilometres from Shanghai, on Tuesday.

In Shanghai itself the Japanese have concentrated their attacks yesterday on the Chinese city of Nantao, and announce that Japanese troops have entered Nantao last evening. Transocean News Service.

CAPTAIN OF CHINESE GUNBOAT DETAINED

Nanking, Nov. 10: The captain of the Chinese gunboat Chaohao Fang Nien-tsu has been detained by order of the Military Affairs Commission for his negligence during the raid on the warship by Japanese planes off the Whampoa Harbour last month when it was heavily damaged. Central News.

JAPANESE UNIT SURROUNDED

Shanghai, Nov. 10: A batch of Japanese troops which landed in Hangchow Bay and penetrated to as far as Shihshutang, a station south of Sungkiang on the Shanghai-Hangchow-Ningpo Line, is reported to have been surrounded by Chinese reinforcements.

During an engagement yesterday afternoon over 200 Japanese were annihilated, and about 20 captured. Central News.

MORE JAPANESE TROOPS FOR SHANGHAI

Shanghai, Nov. 10: Three thousand additional Japanese troops arrived here late yesterday afternoon from Japan. The transports also brought over a number of motor launches. Central News.

JAPANESE LAUD DEFENDERS OF TAIYUAN

Beleaguered Garrison Fought To Last Man

Peiping, Nov. 10. The Chinese garrison at Taiyuan, consisting of an unknown number of troops of the 73rd and 84th Shansi Divisions, fought to the last man in desperate hand-to-hand clashes which raged throughout the city.

The end came after Japanese sappers blew up the north gate admitting fresh troops which overwhelmed the Chinese resistance.

There is no news of the British missionaries, but Japanese military authorities have promised to inquire into their fate.

A Japanese spokesman said: "I admire the Chinese soldiers in Taiyuan. Nowhere else in north China have the Chinese fought so obstinately." He added that he believed the Chinese troops in Taiyuan were commanded by General Fu Tso-yi. "If his body is found among the dead I respect him, but if he is safe somewhere else, China is weak eternally."

Indicating that the Japanese strength in Shansi is disproportionately small compared with the Chinese, the spokesman was of the opinion that the campaign showed the superiority of mechanised equipment and the supremacy of the Japanese military spirit. Reuter.

FRENCH LAND MARINES

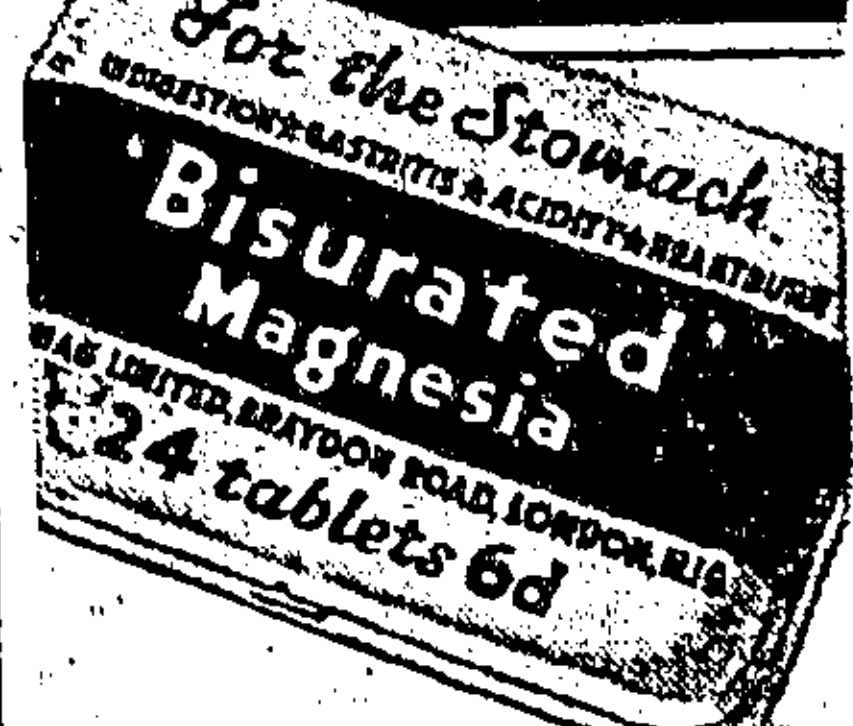

Shanghai, Nov. 10. Japanese planes dropped bombs on the Chinese positions on the east bank of the Zahwei Creek, a hundred yards from the boundary of the French Concession.

Marines with full war kit have been landed from the French flag-ship "Lamotte Picquet" to strengthen the French defences bordering Nantao. Reuter.

NEW THREEPENNY PIECES

33,000,000 of the new three-penny pieces have so far been issued by the Mint. The number, however, has proved to be insufficient to ensure free circulation, large numbers appearing to have been retained as souvenirs. Further issues at the rate of 1,250,000 per week are continuing. British Wireless.

WARSHIP LAUNCHES

The submarine Cachalot is to be launched at the Greenock shipyard of the Scott's Shipbuilding and Engineering Company on December 2, and the destroyer Punjab at the same yard on December 18. The launch of the destroyer Nubian at the Woolston yard of Thornycroft and Co., Limited, has been provisionally fixed for December 21.

With the launch of the Nubian, all the vessels authorized in the 1935 construction programme will be afloat. There were 28 ships in this programme, as originally voted, and a further seven destroyers, of which the Nubian is one, were included in a supplementary estimate. The Gloucester, launched at Devonport recently, is the last of the three cruisers in the programme, which also included the Maidstone, submarine depot-ship, launched at Clydebank. Eight of the 16 destroyers have been completed, and are now serving in the Mediterranean, but the three submarines will not be ready until the spring.

WITNESS SAYS STATEMENT WAS UNTRUE

Kowloon Inquest Evidence

'I WAS AFRAID'

At the resumed hearing of the inquest before Mr. K. Keen (Coroner) and a jury at the Kowloon magistracy yesterday into the circumstances surrounding the death of Chan Sun, who died on August 31, Chan Fat, tailor, who knew the deceased, continued his evidence of the arrest and detention of the two alleged suspects, Wong Lap and Chan Sun, according to evidence, died while on the way to the Kwong Wah Hospital from the Shamshui Police Station where it was alleged, he had been assaulted by a Chinese detective.

Chan Sun and his friend Wong Lap, were arrested by the police following the discovery of the loss of a sewing machine and clothing material on the morning of August 31. They were detained at the Shamshui Police Station for several hours or the same evening. After being questioned individually three times in a small room, where Wong Lap alleged he had been assaulted, they were released.

Chan Tam-lin, a friend of district watchman No. 38, and Chan Fat, the tailor, gave evidence yesterday.

Chan Tam-lin stated that on the day in question he was informed by Chan Fat of the loss of a sewing machine. He accompanied the district watchman to look for Wong Lap and Chan Sun. Having found them they then proceeded to the Shamshui Police Station where their statements were taken.

DECEASED KICKED

Witness said that Chan Tsun, a detective, told deceased to produce the machine otherwise he (deceased) would be subjected to a beating. Chan Tsun was then holding a truncheon in a threatening manner and kicked the deceased twice on the left side as a result of which deceased staggered and fell to the ground.

"Chan Tsun held Chan Sun's collar, pulled him up from the floor and dragged him out into the passage. We followed out, Chan Sun pitched forward," said witness.

Following the death of Chan Sun, witness was called to the Yau-mat Police Station where his statements were taken by Detective-Inspector A. E. Carey twice, one on September 2 and the other the next day. In the witness stand yesterday, witness denied his statement and alleged that the first one was not true.

When asked by Mr. John Whyatt, Crown Solicitor, as to why he had told an untrue story witness said, "I dare not to tell the truth. I was afraid."

Mr. Whyatt: Why were you afraid?—Seeing the way the Chinese detective beat Chan Sun I was afraid I would be treated in the same way.

What happened between the first and the second statements that removed your fear—I told the truth the second day.

Are you afraid to-day?—No.

The hearing at this stage was adjourned till Tuesday afternoon.

A THOUGHT

You saw him, he had just returned on leave from France. What a thrill of pride you felt in his mud-stained tunic, his battered shrapnel-helmet—"Tin-hat," he called it. You remember how he hunched the weight of his equipment to the other shoulder as he answered with a happy grin "Ten days!" ... Did he come through all right? You have sometimes wondered ... but not often of late. It is a long time since the War, and we are apt to forget ... yet there are obligations we should remember.

SPENT FORTUNE

Now On "Dole"

A woman who was left several thousand pounds by her husband—mostly spent in Shanghai—but who is now receiving 15s a week unemployment pay, appeared in an action at Croydon County Court recently, states the "Bulletin."

A judgment summons was heard relating to a bill of costs, £100 13s. 4d. which Mrs. Violet M. Pringle, of Eridge Road, Merton Park, London, had been ordered to pay after an unsuccessful High Court action against Mrs. C. A. Macey, the judgment creditor, of the White Hart Hotel, Merton Park. The Judge ordered her to pay 5s. a month.

Mrs. Pringle said she had £2500 on her return to England in 1928. Mr. Ben Thomas (for Mrs. Macey) said that five unsuccessful attempts were made by the Court to serve the present summons. Eventually a private process-server managed it when a car in which Mrs. Pringle was seated was stopped by traffic lights.

CHINA'S FAITH UNSHAKEN

Of China to-day it can truly be said that she is "bloody but unbound." Rarely if ever before has any single nation taken such punishment and survived. Her present attitude is a magnificent tribute to the enduring and endearing faith of the people in their nation's cause and to their unswerving loyalty and trust in their leaders. China is as one against a besmirching aggressor nation which gives no quarter and shall be given none. Such faith inspiring such a vast nation must make for ultimate success.

It is of particular significance that, notwithstanding the fact that China has suffered certain reverses during the past few days since the cyclonic Japanese onslaught commenced, yet there has not been one murmur of discontent from any section of the nation. Rather have there been words of encouragement couched in moderately toned language calculated to stimulate genuine confidence throughout the length and breadth of this great nation.

Meanwhile in Europe matters affecting the destiny of China are moving slowly but steadily towards a conclusion which, so it seems reasonable to presume, will be satisfactory in the matter of effecting a proper settlement of Sino-Japanese differences. However, the fact must never be lost sight of that those differences are great, and with Japan's continued ruthlessness they are becoming greater hourly. Most significant of all is the disposition now being manifested by Japan to adopt a policy which at least does not slam the door on negotiations.

It is in this connection that we discern great possibilities in the eminently practical suggestion made by Australia's Prime Minister, the Rt. Hon. J. A. Lyons, whose Party has recently been re-elected for a further term of office, in which he propounded the policy of a Pacific Pact.

Hong Kong will have an opportunity to witness the real Hawaiian "hula" at the Variety Revue, to take place at the Queen's Theatre on November 17, when it will be presented by Misses Bessye and Dorothy Wong and Agnes Rocha.

LEST WE FORGET

That China is standing firm as never before, and that her faith in herself is more powerful and potent than ever, is a factor which can help enormously in the formation of a Pacific policy, based upon the inter-dependence of interested parties.

To everyone who gives the matter that seriousness of thought which it deserves, it must be patent that no nation anywhere in the world, far less in the Pacific zone, can live into itself. The fallacy of such an isolationist policy was demonstrated more than fifty years ago, and matters international have moved with lightening rapidity since then. To-day transportation and communication have reached that stage of efficiency that all nations have become "next door neighbours." Science has, physically, brought us all very close together. Psychologically we may yet be long, distances apart, but surely it is merely a matter of time before the peoples of all nations realise their similarity in all major matters. When that day arrives, high-handed policies will vanish because with a more enlightened world the abject futility of wanton aggression will become a comedy rather than a tragedy.

If the wisest councils are to prevail, however, during that period of worthy transition then it must be by the faith which each nation has in itself, otherwise the old, old order of one nation or a group of nations being slavishly dependent on others will continue ad nauseum.

China's faith is manifested in her strong determination not to be the slave of any nation, though she is willing, as her leaders have so often stated, to be the colleague of all. That is the crux of the matter. China rightly demands to be treated on an equal footing, and she will negotiate on that basis and none other. Peace is the common desire, but not a sluggish peace which would sell the nation into slavery. It can only be peace with honour, and China has the faith to carry that policy through. By now, Japan ought to realise that. If she does not, then her participation in the Brussels Conference is merely a waste of time.

King Victor Emmanuel of Italy to-day celebrates his 66th birthday.

To-day is Armistice Day when the Empire will pay homage to the nation's dead—to the millions who gave their lives in the service of their country during the years 1914-1918.

The King will stand before the Cenotaph in Whitehall, when the Two Minutes' Silence will be solemnly observed. Here in Hong Kong, His Excellency the Governor will join with the people in the service before the memorial to the Glorious Dead.

It is nineteen years ago since the armistice was signed, bringing to a close the most terrible catastrophe the world has ever known. A great deal has happened in those nineteen years and a great deal is happening all over the world at the present moment. The civil war in Spain, started in the summer of 1936, is still raging and the Non-Intervention Committee, with its patience taxed almost to the verge of despair is continuing its difficult task especially that of putting into effect the British plan for the withdrawal of non-Spanish combatants. In Jerusalem, too, there is trouble. And here in the Far East, practically at the doorstep of Hong Kong, the undeclared war of aggression by Japan in China, begun on July 7 last, continues unabated.

The League of Nations has condemned Japanese ruthlessness. At present the Nine-Power Conference, of most vital importance to the whole world, is meeting for the purpose of discussing possibilities of bringing about a peaceful settlement of the conflict. Japan has chosen not to take part in the Conference. Whatever the outcome of the deliberations at Brussels, it is to be earnestly hoped that some form of settlement will be brought about to put an end once and for all to the unwarranted aggression against which China is so gallantly fighting for the sake of her sovereign rights.

Armistice day is a day for remembrance. Veterans will recall in those Two Minutes vivid memories and look back on what has happened during the past nineteen years. Guns are rumbling in Shanghai and in Spain while leaders of all civilised nations are seeking to restore peace on earth and goodwill to all men.

As we stand bareheaded before the Cenotaph let us dedicate ourselves anew in the cause of peace and to doing all that is in our power to work in brotherly concord and friendly co-operation in making that cause a reality.

No truer words have been spoken than those of Mr. Herbert Hoover, "You cannot make peace with documents; peace must be made in the hearts of men."

R.M.A. BORADO

The R.M.A. Borado arrived in Hong Kong from Penang at 11.20 a.m. yesterday with one passenger, Mr. A. E. Hughes, 15,950 kilos of freight and 355,895 kilos of mail.

JAPAN REVIEW

Japanese Asia

A Japanese Asia would be a danger to the world, declared Viscount Cecil, presiding at a meeting in London in connection with the first British National Congress of the International Peace Campaign. Viscount Cecil was not only expressing the opinion of his own country, but also of those which have vital interests in the Far East.

Great Britain, the United States, Holland, and France particularly cannot but notice that for the past five or six years the course of Japanese politics has been exceedingly tortuous, contradictory and obscure. One moment Japan casts covetous eyes on the adjacent coast of Fukien Province, and carries on a large Japanese colonisation and extensive development in and around Davao in the extreme southern end of the Philippine Islands. Another moment she looks enviously on the Netherlands East Indies, and the fear of Japan's "southward expansion" policy has evoked frequent comments from the Dutch press.

Judging from the book "Japan Must Fight England" written by Lieutenant-Commander Tota Ishimaru, of the Japanese Imperial Army, there is reason to believe that Japan's territorial ambitions even extend to British possessions. "Without the presence of a British fleet at Singapore," the writer declares, "then certainly Australia, New Zealand and even India would immediately fall into our hands."

Strong Action Needed

Though Japan has time and again given assurances that she has no aggressive intentions and no territorial designs at the expense of others, her assurances and re-assurances, viewed in the light of recent events, afford not the slightest guarantee of this. Will not the Powers having interests in the Pacific do something to restore Japan's sanity?

The Powers supporting the League can put a stop to all the mischiefs of Japan by taking note of this fact: Japan has practically no raw materials of her own. She must import all her cotton, most of her wood pulp and non-ferrous metals, much iron and all her oil and rubber. The only raw material she produces in large quantities is silk, and the United States takes ninety per cent. of the total export.

Viscount Cecil hopes that the spirit in which peace loving nations enter the Nine-Power Conference is going to be to insist on peace even at the cost of taking strong action, not the Hoare-Laval spirit which produced the disaster of 1935. If Japan lost the war it would be the greatest benefit that could happen to her, because she might thereby win back her own soul.

Vice-Chancellor

—And Friend

WITTY REPLY

In an exceedingly witty and pleasant reply Sir William said he was a little overwhelmed as he had been to many of these parties lately. As a matter of fact, the President had assigned him the credit for labours with some of which he had had nothing to do. He had not obtained the Rockefeller Foundation for the Medical Faculty nor had he negotiated with the Public Works Department for a kitchen for the University Club. In any case he could not imagine himself writing letters to the P.W.D., as he knew well that would start a correspondence so protracted that it might still be going on now. (Laughter.)

Going on in more serious vein, Sir William said he wished to offer a few words of advice with reference to the Alumni Association, which, he emphasised, was absolutely essential to the University. He had been entertained a few days ago by the cricket club and in the course of that function a certain very prominent member of the Association, one whom he thought had been a Past President, had in conversation expressed his regret that the Association was not getting the support from graduates that might be expected. His interlocutor did not think the fault was solely with the Association—part of the blame might be with the University itself. If this were so he entreated the Association if it had a grievance not to nurse it. They should, and he strongly advised them, to go to the Vice-Chancellor about it. They had his full permission to do so, provided they held off till after 3 p.m. on Friday. (Laughter.)

Continuing amidst a recurring ripple, Sir William said: "Hong Kong is full of people with grievances. The man living in Kowloon has a grievance against the man living on The Peak and other people have other grievances. This is wrong. Why bear a grievance. If you don't like a man living on The Peak, just give him a black eye." (More laughter.)

REASON FOR RETIREMENT

He had been asked what he intended to do. The answer in short was nothing. The real reason why he had insisted on retiring was that he had of late been feeling tired. After his encounter with the Lido Lady on August 20 this feeling of tiredness had grown more acute. He hastened to assure the ladies present that the Lido Lady was not a woman nor even a mermaid, but merely a barge. (Laughter.)

In conclusion he exhorted his listeners to strive to make the Alumni Association a reality and not to hesitate to go to his successor about it. (Smiles); "I myself feel like the charwoman and am going to do nothing forever. With music celestial spheres might be ringing; I shall have nothing to do with the singing."

MR. DUNCAN SLOSS

In a few brief words Mr. Sloss thanked his hosts. He said for the last ten days he had been hanging on to the coat tails of Sir William and he did not deserve it. He would, however, try to deserve it in the future by following in his footsteps. In the meantime he was not going to waste the time of hosts and guests, so he begged them, "On with the dance."

The party terminated with Dr. Li calling for three cheers for the guests of honour, which were given with right good will.

THE BLACKWOOD SCREEN

Following is a translation of the inscription on the beautiful blackwood screen which was the gift of the Alumni Association to Sir William Hornell:—

Sir William Hornell has been Vice-Chancellor of our University for over thirteen years. During that time the University was more than once confronted with an exceptionally difficult situation which virtually threatened its very existence. But, thanks to the strenuous efforts of Sir William and particularly to his indefatigable spirit it has come out of all these throes a greater institution than ever. Sir William is now going away from us on a well-earned retirement. It is only natural that we, who have either drunk deep from the fountain-head of his teaching and his instructiveness, or have had the privilege of enjoying his friendship, should find ourselves utterly devoid of words to express the profound feelings that are overwhelming us on the occasion. Nevertheless, when noble people take leave of each other, it becomes them to say a word of good advice at parting. And accordingly we say the following to him, our beloved Vice-Chancellor, Sir William Hornell:—

His great work accomplished, to him is due all.
That is known as fame;
And the fountain-head of his teaching
Will never cease flowing into a steady stream!
And now back to his own country he is going,
Like one walking in daytime in an embowered robe.
To enjoy a life endeared by what the ancients
Took great pleasure in winning—the esteem of his friends!
And so we all wish him a long life and good health,
That every one will say of him
What the famous Emperor of Han said of Ma-Yuan,
"What a fine-looking old man he is!"

MANY KILLED IN SOOCHOW

DURING 12-HOUR BOMBING

Soochow, Nov. 10. Following many days of successive air raids during which time they concentrated their attacks along the Soochow-Kashing and the Nanking-Shanghai railway lines, Japanese bombers to-day turned their attention to the city proper and rained over 100 high explosives on the houses and streets within the city limits.

For 12 hours between midnight last night and noon to-day the raiders kept coming in groups of ten machines and after emptying their bomb racks they returned to their airbase for more missiles to be dropped on the city.

Although exact figures have not been ascertained, it is feared that the loss in civilian lives is extremely high.

Most of the bridges outside of the city were also destroyed.

Part of the Sulun Cotton Mill was ruined by one of the bombs.

More than 70 houses on Shantanga were demolished while most of the power lines were torn down.

Late this afternoon Japanese planes continued to circle over Soochow but did not drop any bombs.

EDEN RETURNS TO BRUSSELS

Indications Of New Initiative By Britain

Brussels, Nov. 9. The British Foreign Secretary, Mr. Anthony Eden, arrived here from London much later than had been expected, his plane having been delayed owing to dense fog.

Although the next session of the Conference does not take place till this afternoon, the intervening time is employed by extremely important diplomatic conversations. The postponement of the session, it is stated, was in fact needed for these preliminary discussions. In British circles it is learned that Mr. Eden has come back with new initiative, and that in consequence the Conference, in the course of this week, will prove that it is of decisive importance to the future of the Far East.

Clearly London has returned to the first thesis of a possible mediation by the Anglo-Saxon Powers in the direct negotiations with China and Japan. In Japanese circles this endeavour by the Anglo-Saxon Powers to obtain a mandate to negotiate with Japan and China is ridiculed, as Japan is of the opinion that no such mediation is necessary, and that Japan will negotiate directly with China.

Mr. Eden, immediately after his arrival, had a conversation with Mr. Norman Davis.

The reserve hitherto shown by France is stated to be necessitated by the fact that France must protect her interests in Indo-China. It is stated that France must have certain indirect assurances from Japan, before she can be more active at the Conference. It is stated, however, that Mr. Eden will reach some agreement with America and France, and that France will share a certain amount of responsibility.

COMMITTEE IDEA

Brussels, Nov. 9. The idea of the creation of a small committee to deal with the Japanese reply to the second invitation to attend the Brussels conference has been dropped for the moment, and until a reply is actually received no decision will be taken as to how to deal with the situation.

The meeting of the conference to-morrow will be very brief. Apparently it will hear a short statement by Mr. Norman Davis, the principal United States delegate, and it is also presumed it will decide whether to adjourn to a fixed date or until reception of the Japanese reply, which, it is now hoped, will come by the week-end. Armistice Day celebrations in Brussels include a dinner to-morrow at which Mr. Norman Davis, Mr. Anthony Eden, and heads of the Dominions delegations will be present.

Mr. Eden saw this afternoon, in addition to M. Maxim Litvinoff, Mr. Norman Davis, M. Paul Spaak and Mr. Quo Tai-chi.

ANGLO-U.S. MEDIATION PROBLEMATIC

JAPAN'S REPLY TO BRUSSELS WILL BE REFUSAL

Brussels, Nov. 10. Japan's reply will be a flat and categorical refusal to deal with the Brussels Conference, according to information received from diplomatic sources in Tokyo. It is stated that the presence of the Soviet delegation is the principal reason cited for this attitude.

It is suggested in Japanese quarters that the door may not entirely be closed upon the possibility of eventual mediation through Britain and the United States but this appears to be problematical.

ACCELERATING BRUSSELS CONFERENCE

Japan's Reply Awaited

Brussels, Nov. 10. It is understood that M. Spaak, acting Belgian Foreign Minister, at this afternoon's meeting will be able to announce the time when the Japanese reply may be expected and possibly the nature of the reply. Efforts to accelerate the Conference have been made during the last twenty-four hours. M. Spaak asked the Belgian Ambassador in Tokyo to ascertain Japan's intentions regarding the reply. Mr. Eden, French Foreign Secretary, saw M. Delbos, French Foreign Minister, this morning and also had a long talk with Mr. Norman Davis.

RAMSAY MACDONALD PASSES

London, Nov. 10. The Rt. Hon. James Ramsay MacDonald, P.C., a former Prime Minister of England, died at sea yesterday en route to South America on a health trip.

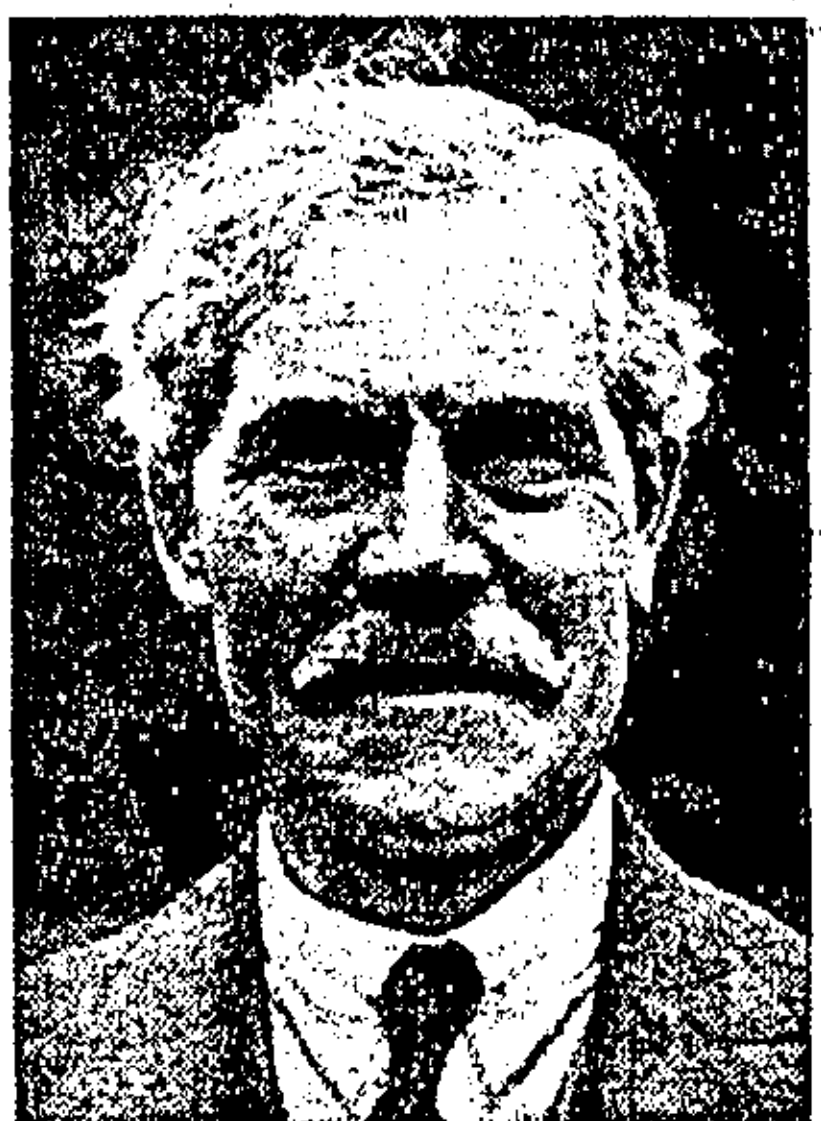

Mr. MacDonald sailed on November 4, aboard the liner Reina del Pacifico, accompanied by his daughter Sheila, and had planned a three months' cruise.

The news of his passing reached England by radio, addressed to his son-in-law, Dr. Mackinnon, who told Reuter that he presumed death was due to heart failure.

The body has been embalmed and is going on to Bermuda.

Reuter.

James Ramsay MacDonald, the Labour statesman, was born at Lossiemouth, Scotland, in 1868, as the son of a farm labourer. He became a pupil-teacher and then went penniless to London where he climbed from one ill-paid job to another and gradually won some recognition. He was one of the founders of the Independent Labour party and in 1900 he became secretary to the Labour Representation Committee, working it up to an important body—one of his greatest achievements. In 1906 he was elected M.P. for Leicester.

RAMSAY MACDONALD

At the beginning of the war he resigned the chairmanship of the Labour party, denouncing the Government for having blundered into the conflict. His action was probably due to miscalculation of pacifist strength in the country.

In his book "Ten Years of Secret Diplomacy" (1915) he stated that he considered the Moroccan policy of France and Britain one of the chief causes of the war and that Russia by her mobilisation had made it inevitable. Later he changed his line, which was unpopular with the bulk of his party, and wrote in support of recruiting. His change of attitude made him a suspect on both sides. Defeated at Leicester in 1918, he did not find a seat for four years. In 1917 he toured the country on behalf of "peace by negotiation," but he had lost his place in the Labour movement. When, however, in the Parliament elected in Nov. 1922, the I.L.P. section obtained the upper hand, they chose Mr. MacDonald as leader instead of Mr. Clynes.

FIRST SOCIALIST PREMIER

Then came the general election of December 1923, at which Labour won many seats. Although he had no absolute majority over the other parties, MacDonald formed a Cabinet on January 22, 1924, thus becoming the first Socialist Premier of Great Britain. At the League Assembly in September he made a speech in which he went a step further in promoting the spirit of peace.

"ORDERLY DEMONSTRATION"

Mr. MacDonald described the general strike of 1926 as "a magnificent and orderly demonstration of passive resistance offered to degrading conditions for mine-workers" and said its cause was the "perversity of the owners." He denounced the Government for breaking off the negotiations because of action against a newspaper that had nothing to do with the case, declaring that this was a mere pretext. When Labour got into power again, he said, the "disgraceful" Trade Disputes Bill would be repealed and the mines nationalised. He advocated, not tariffs or safeguarding, but keeping sweated goods out altogether and urged that land settlement schemes should be undertaken, in England as well as in the Dominions. In January 1928, he appealed to India to accept the Simon Commission.

MacDonald's pursuit of ideals was mixed with ambition. Unlike the typical Labour leader, he was very reserved. He wrote a great deal, chiefly on Socialism, Labour questions and India. He had travelled more than any other British Premier, visiting India, Ceylon, the United States, Algeria and Tunisia as well as European countries. His health was not good and in 1927 he had a critical illness in Philadelphia. A great lover of art, he was made a trustee of the National Gallery in 1928.

His wife, a daughter of Dr. Gladstone and a niece of Lord Kelvin, was a woman of very fine character who exercised a great influence on him for good. Her death in 1911 was a terrible blow to him. Their daughter Isabel was hostess at 10 Downing Street during his term of office.

S.V.C. WILL BE DEMOBILISED TO-MORROW

Japanese Land On South Coast Of Hangchow Bay

Shanghai, Nov. 10. A Japanese destroyer and gunboat steamed up the Whangpoo this evening and anchored near the boom where they are in a good position to shell Nantao at point-blank range and it is also possible that they may attempt to breach the boom at high tide. The hull at Nantao was broken by exchanges of rifle and machine-gun fire between Chinese and Japanese forces on the banks of the Zuhai River but all was quiet when night set in.

The French Concession Volunteers Corps will be demobilised on November 12.

A Chinese spokesman announced that Japanese troops landed for the first time on the south coast of Hangchow Bay disembarking at Kuanhaiwei, an important communications centre 70 miles to the east of Hangchow. The spokesman was of the opinion that the Japanese intended to make an earnest bid for Hangchow and also estimated that there are also divisions of Japanese troops in the whole of the Hangchow Bay area.

PEACE MUST BE FOUNDED ON JUSTICE

LEOPOLD III SAYS

Brussels, Nov. 10.

"Peace which is not founded on justice, will not last," so declared King Leopold III of Belgium during an audience granted by him yesterday, according to Dr. Paul Yu Pin, Vicar Apostolic for Nanking.

The theme of their conversation, Dr. Yu told a Central News correspondent, was the current situation in China, regarding which King Leopold showed deep concern, judging by the many questions he asked.

The same sympathetic concern, Dr. Yu said, was shown by Pope Pius XI during his recent audience to him in Rome. In addition to his recent donation of 65,000 liras the Pope has now given another 100,000 liras for the relief of the Chinese war refugees.

Dr. Yu gave a speech over the radio on China's developments in recent years and the co-operation between the Chinese Government and the Catholic Church yesterday.

After the speech he left for Holland where he will also broadcast a few lectures on the real situation in China. Afterwards, he will return to Belgium and then proceed to Rome and Switzerland.

HONG KONG RIFLE ASSOCIATION

Spoon And Practice Shoots

SUNDAY SHOOTING AT KOWLOON

On Saturday afternoon last, when the Hong Kong Rifle Association held its first week-end shoot on the range at Stonecutters, by courtesy of the naval authorities, a match took place between members of the Dockyard Rifle Club and those belonging to the Fourth Submarine Flotilla Rifle Club. While the Dockyard team used exclusively "1914" rifles, two members of the Flotilla team used the rifle as issued, and were granted a handicap of 20 points as compensation.

At the conclusion of the shoot at 500 yards only two points separated the totals made by the two teams, but at 600 yards, in a fading light, several members of the Flotilla Club found that lack of experience in firing under such conditions told badly against them and the match was won by the Dockyard Club with a margin of 38 points. The Fourth Flotilla Club spoon was won by Mr. Lakeman, while that presented by the Dockyard Club by Lieut. Jenks, R.N.

In the spoon and practice shoot which was held concurrently with this match the net spoon in the S.R. (b) class was won by Lieut. Jenks with a score of 99, while the handicap spoon in the S.R. (a) series was won by P.O. Thomas.

At the mid-week spoon and practice shoot held as usual on the Army Ranges at Kowloon City yesterday afternoon, competitors found themselves firing under almost ideal conditions. The drop in temperature came as a most welcome relief to all, although a strong and variable wind troubled many. As will be seen from the scores given below the net spoon in the S.R. (b) class was won by Capt. Ratcliffe, and that awarded for the best handicap score by Sgt. Bickell. In the S.R. (a) class the handicap spoons were won by L. Cpl. Baker and Spr. Albane.

PROGRAMME COMPLETED

The programme of the events to be held on Sunday fortnight, November 28, has now been completed, and it has been arranged for matches and individual competitions to be held with the rifle and revolver, while an individual event will take place on the clay-bird range, which is now approaching completion. After firing has been completed, a special lunch will be held in the Clubhouse to which guests may be invited, and in the early afternoon the prize distribution will take place.

Another week-end shoot will take place on Saturday afternoon next at Stonecutters, which all individual full members are eligible to attend, on the understanding that numbers are sent in by those responsible, to the Honorary Secretary by noon of Friday. Should it be found that the number of those wishing to take part is in excess of the target accommodation available, preference will be given to those who do not belong to the Regular Forces, and to those who, for various reasons, are unable to attend the mid-week shoots.

The current edition of the "H.K.R.A. Bulletin" is now ready for distribution, which will take place on Friday. Advance copies of the Association's Christmas cards have now been received from the printers, and are being distributed to the various affiliated organisations during the next two or three days.

The preliminary examination of scores made by members of the Association is now proceeding, with the object of selecting teams to represent the Colony in the annual Inter-Colonial Match. It is emphasised that affiliated members are not eligible for consideration in this respect, and it is pointed out that, for the first time, separate teams are being selected, one of which will fire with the "rifle as issued," and the other with the S.R. (b) or "1914" weapon. Any member who wishes to be considered for inclusion in the preliminary practices, should communicate with the Honorary Secretary, giving a list of the scores recently made, and at the same time stating which type of rifle was used.

The leading scores made yesterday afternoon are as follows:

CHEUNG CHAU FIRE

Sixty matchsheds used as dwellings by poorer people, and 12 brick houses on Cheung Chau Island, were destroyed by fire which broke out at 4 a.m. yesterday near to the pier which serves the little settlement. About 100 are homeless. No. 2 Fire Float from Hong Kong reached the scene 50 minutes after the alarm was sounded here, under Superintendent J. C. Fitz-Henry.

The Cheung Chau fire-fighters, with their small equipment, had struggled bravely to check the fire, but it took four hours of further battling from land and sea, to finally quench the flames after the fire boat's arrival. Numbers of animals were burned to death but there were no human casualties. Only the brick dwellings were insured.

NO BLAME ON ANYONE

Footballer's Death Probed

A Coroner's jury comprising Messrs. I. N. Murray (foreman), F. de la P. Lesson, and Chan Wai-chit returned a verdict of death by misadventure at the conclusion of the inquiry held at the Central Magistracy yesterday into the circumstances surrounding the death of Wong Ping, Eastern Athletic Association footballer who died on October 9, at the Queen Mary Hospital, a few days after meeting with an accident in the course of the football match between the Police and Eastern.

Mr. R. Edwards sat as Coroner and Sub-Inspector J. Hallam was in charge of proceedings for the police. The first witness called was Dr. I. Newton, Medical Officer in charge of the Queen Mary Hospital, who said deceased was admitted to the hospital at about 8 p.m. on October 2. He had an injury to his abdomen and was advised to have an operation but refused. At 7 p.m. the following day he agreed and the operation was carried out about 8.30 p.m. Witness found he had a rupture of the small intestine low down on the right side of the abdomen and apparently the lower cavity contained a large quantity of the intestinal contents. On October 6 his condition was somewhat improved but again deteriorated and he died at 8.50 a.m. on October 9.

GENERAL PERITONITIS. The post-mortem examination revealed no evidence of injuries externally except the operation wounds. The abdomen showed signs of general peritonitis, the skull and its contents were normal. The cause of death was a ruptured intestine followed by general peritonitis.

In answer to a question from the foreman of the jury, witness said he considered that in all probability the operation would have been a success had it been done immediately or shortly after admission.

Sergeant Reynolds, Royal Army Service Corps, who refereed the game in question, said about ten minutes from the final whistle he saw deceased lying on the field of play. He blew his whistle and stopped the game and deceased was carried off the field. During the whole course of the game he saw no foul or rough play, in fact the game was cleanly contested throughout.

Police-Sergeant J. Shepherd said he was a spectator at the match. Midway through the second half a free kick was awarded the Police for a minor infringement. The Eastern players lined up to defend their goal, the ball was kicked, and one of the Chinese players stopped it either with his chest or his stomach. He kicked the ball clear, then collapsed. Witness was uncertain if it was deceased who stopped the kick.

NO ROUGH PLAY

Tsang Pui-fuk, vice-captain of the Eastern team, said he was playing goal-keeper in the match in question. He had had considerable playing experience and in his opinion the game was cleanly contested and free of dirty or rough play.

Police Constable J. W. Howlett said he was playing inside-left in that game. There was an advancing movement by the Police and the ball came from behind him and struck deceased in the stomach with great force. Deceased fell down, holding his stomach. Without retiring, the jury returned their verdict, and added they were of the opinion that there was no blame attached to anyone.

Look at Your Skin

Skin Specialists declare that 90 out of every 100 women suffer from skin outbreaks, spots, pimples, blotches, and "muddy" complexions UNNECESSARILY!

Ugly complexion faults are woman's most common enemy. Few escape. Some resort to heavy powdering in an effort to hide them. Whilst others, due to consistent wrong treatment, cause the skin to become highly sensitive, coarse and blemished.

To make your skin clear and healthy, your complexion fresh and smooth, use Cuticura. Cleanse the skin with Cuticura Soap twice a day. Its luxuriant and mildly antiseptic lather is soothing and softening; washes away pore-deep dirt which causes blackheads, enlarged pores and ugly complexion defects. And to rid the skin of pimples, skin outbreaks, rashes or irritations use Cuticura Ointment direct on the affected part before washing with the soap. Its antiseptic action kills germs, soothes and heals and quickly clears the skin. Try Cuticura to-day. See how soon your skin improves, your complexion becomes smoother, more attractive than ever before.

BETTER VALUE THAN EVER

The Gillette No. 77 Set illustrated here, which contains the latest Gillette razor, three Blue Gillette slotted blades and two blade holders in a new type of moulded box, has these definite advantages.

The razor is made in two pieces instead of three, as formerly, thus making it easier and quicker to clean, assemble and use. The blades are made by the new electrical-tempering process. They give not only closer, cleaner shaves than you have ever had before, but also more shaves per blade.

The case is ideal for hot and humid climates as it is so easy to keep clean.

Ask your dealer to show you a No. 77 Set—one of the most popular that Gillette have ever made.

FALL IN COMMODITY PRICES

The Chancellor of the Exchequer was questioned in the House of Commons regarding the sharp fall in a number of commodity prices. Sir John Simon deprecated the exaggeration of recent movements, and said that the true position was that there had been in some commodities a certain setback. This was no ground for saying that it would be permanent. It was due to causes quite outside Great Britain, and in fact prices were much higher than at the time of the Ottawa Conference. He reaffirmed, however, the adherence of the government to the declaration on price level made at Ottawa, and reaffirmed by Empire delegates at the time of the World Economic and Monetary Conference in London in 1933.

EXCHEQUER RETURNS

Exchequer returns show that the total ordinary revenue amounts to £288,885,981, as compared with £289,284,726 at a corresponding date last year. The total expenditure in last self-balancing items is £251,984,795, as compared with £247,082,157 at a corresponding date in 1936.

Britain's Trade Activity.

BLAME LAID ON SCIENTISTS

Wastage Of Life

Sir Richard Gregory, speaking at a luncheon of the Nottingham City Business Club, in connection with the British Association meetings, said that rightly or wrongly science had been blamed for much of the wastage of life which had been brought about by the rapid applications of scientific knowledge to purposes of peace and of war.

"It would be a betrayal of the scientific movement if scientific workers failed to play an active part in solving the social problems which their contributions to natural knowledge have created."

"It is their duty to assist in the establishment of a rational and harmonious social order out of the welter of human conflict into which the world has been thrown through the release of uncontrolled sources of industrial production and of lethal weapons."

The unfulfilled needs of the people of Great Britain for essential foodstuffs were, he said, assessed at £100,000,000 a year as a minimum. Fitness could never be obtained by physical measures alone, he thought, educational or recreational; adequate nourishment was an essential factor in its attainment.

Malnutrition was the root cause of poor physique, and increased attention to sports or physical training could never mitigate the ill-effects of a bad diet.

The measures recently instituted for improving the physical health of the people of Great Britain involved, therefore, the element of nutrition.

New Plant To Rival Cotton

Commercial Production In England Starting

The forthcoming production in England on a commercial scale of "cotline," a new natural fibre said to rival cotton in its textile possibilities has been announced in London.

Cotline is a perennial plant which will grow in most temperate climates and in sub-tropical regions. It is less costly to produce than cotton, it is claimed, and has a staple strength of 40 per cent. higher.

A company has been formed in England, after many years of botanical and chemical research, to exploit this new discovery. The company owns supplies of roots and seeds of the plant, as well as the process for treatment of the raw fibre.

An agreement has been reached, it is stated, with an Italian company, which will start planting in Italy under licence. Licences have also been issued in Canada and Poland. Negotiations with Sweden and Japan are in progress. The latter country being especially interested, owing to the difficulty in importing raw materials on account of the present war with China.

The cotline fibre can be spun on existing machines, alone or in combination with other commercial fibres. Highly satisfactory results are claimed from a yarn made of 50 per cent. cotline and 50 per cent. wool. The fibre dyes well, is absorbent, and is claimed to yield good-quality fabrics for clothing, especially underwear, and for towels.

STABLEMEN WANT BETTER PAY

HUGE NAVAL PROGRAMME FOR 1938

COMPLETE FLEET IN FAR EAST

No Sign Of Check In Building

There is no visible evidence to support recent suggestions that Admiralty contracts have already reached their peak, and that ship-builders must be prepared in the near future for a slump in naval work, writes the "Daily Telegraph" Naval Correspondent.

On the contrary, there are indications that, even when all existing contracts are fulfilled, the naval rearmament programme will still be far from complete.

The Government's plans are not confined to making good deficiencies caused by years of disarmament. They aim at re-establishing the British Navy on a two hemisphere basis.

This involves the provision of sufficient tonnage to maintain one powerful battle fleet, complete with all auxiliaries, in European waters, and another available, if need be, for service in the Far East.

DOMINIONS' SHARE

The policy has been devised with the single purpose of safeguarding the Empire's communications, the maintenance of which is now regarded as the primary function of the Navy. It is being pursued with the approval and co-operation of the Dominions, whose share in the task of naval defence is about to be enlarged.

This will necessitate large additions to the current programme. Next year's Navy Estimates must provide for a substantial quota of new tonnage.

The 1938 programme has, it is understood, already been drafted tentatively. As the restoration of the battle fleet is regarded as being of first importance, priority will be given to new battleships.

QUICKER THAN SCHEDULE

The naval authorities have detailed knowledge of the productive capacity of the shipbuilding and kindred industries, as well as of the stocks of steel and other essential materials. The national resources for producing naval armaments are much greater than are generally realised, especially abroad.

At the present time not only is work on about 100 fighting ships well up to timetable, but in many cases—notably in destroyers—it is in advance of schedule.

As five large aircraft carriers are now building, the 1938 programme is likely to be devoted mainly to battleships, cruisers, and destroyers.

We shall have over 50 modern cruisers, with a reserve of older ships effective for second-line duties. The ultimate establishment is to be 60 modern and 10 over-age cruisers, but if this proves inadequate to meet conditions a few years hence it will be increased.

NEW SOUTH WALES PLANS LARGE SCALE JAMBOREE

THE CHIEF SCOUT HOPES TO ATTEND

Preparations are already being made for a large scale Boy Scout Jamboree to be held near Sydney, New South Wales, Australia, just after Christmas in 1938.

Invitations are being sent to overseas and foreign countries, and it is expected that over 10,000 Scouts will attend. The gathering will be known as the "Australasian Jamboree"—and will be the most important yet held in Australia.

The site chosen for this great gathering of Scouts is at Bradfield, named after Dr. J. J. C. Bradfield, the great Engineer of Sydney Harbour Bridge. It is an ideal position for a Jamboree, and with undulating hills and valleys, amply lends itself to an effective lay-out. The site is approximately nine miles from the General Post Office, Sydney, and is about 700 feet above sea level and glorious views are obtained on all sides. The camp will be in sylvan surroundings in an almost natural state. It is well timbered, and gum trees predominate. City water is available, and the camp will be lighted

NEW DEVICES FOR DOCTORS

London Exhibition

Shows Latest

Wonders

An exhibition for doctors was held at the New Hall of the Royal Horticultural Society in Westminster recently. It was the annual London Medical Exhibition, at which the latest scientific surgical instruments and all manner of patent medicines were on view.

The catalogue sets out thousands of products and appliances; many of them have been discovered during the past year. One of the most remarkable exhibits, which has not yet been taken up by the medical profession, is a portable apparatus no bigger than a portable gramophone, for the relief of pain in childbirth and minor operations.

Merely by inhaling deeply from a rubber cup the patient by means of nitrous oxide—more commonly known as laughing gas—becomes insensible to pain, and yet remains conscious.

It is so simple as to be fool-proof, is manufactured by the British Oxygen Company, and has the approval of the Central Midwives Board.

WHEN LIMBS ARE BROKEN

Equipment for the setting of fractures is much lighter in weight, does away with many of the old plaster casts, and above all considerably reduces the period a patient need stay in hospital.

One metal attachment made by an American firm for the reduction of difficult fractures of the femur leaves full movement for the knee and hip joints—a great advance. This makes it possible for the patient to get about on crutches from the seventh day in cases that often taken months to mend.

A Viennese invention has brought the "pocket laboratory," which, it is said, will soon be carried by every doctor. It is only eight inches by four by one inch deep in size, yet contains sufficient reagents for up to 2,500 blood tests to be made at a cost of a farthing each. This allows of tests being carried out by the bedside at a great saving of time and money.

On the same stand was a portable X-ray apparatus in three small cases, which gives better results than have yet been known.

China War Brings Toy Boom To Britain

The fighting in China brought a boom to Britain's toy trade. Sales records of British-made toys will be broken this Christmas, say experts.

Japanese toys, which usually flood the market about this time, have only been reaching Britain in small quantities. Japan has been turning all her metal and machinery over to war work.

The recovery in trade at home is also giving a fillip to the toy trade.

PATIENTS HEAR CONCERT

Military Hospital
Function

An appreciative gathering of patients of the British Military Hospital and guests of Colonel Crawford-Jones, were treated to a very enjoyable programme of music in one of the wards of that institution yesterday evening.

Commencing at 6 o'clock the concert was opened with Bohn's Calm As The Night, a violinello solo played by Mr. E. G. Pellegatti, and this was followed by an encore, Goldmann's Andante.

The rest of the programme was as follows:
Selected Songs—Mrs. Leo Roet, soprano (Love Made A Song and Danny Boy).

Songs—Mr. Gus D'Aquino, tenor (Mare My Girl, Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms and Secret Love).

Violinello Solos—Mr. E. G. Pellegatti (Meditation and Swan Song).

Selected Songs—Mrs. Leo Roet, soprano (Summer Night and Glamorous Night).

Songs—Mr. Li Chor-chi (A Spring Carol and A Sweet Mystery of Life).

Duets—Mrs. Leo Roet, Mr. Li Chor-chi (Song of Songs and Rose Of My Heart).

Following the concert, the host invited the artists for the very able part they played in making the concert the tremendous success it was, and suggested a special vote of thanks to Miss Nora Flint who provided the piano accompaniment throughout.

The guests then repaired to another part of the building where cocktails were served. Among those present at the function were: Colonel and Mrs. Sidney Smith, Major and Mrs. Barrie Major and Mrs. C. E. Eccles, Major G. T. L. Archer, Major and Mrs. F. C. Tibbs, Major J. D. Corner, Major and Mrs. G. S. Rawstone, Captain W. G. Harvey, Captain and Mrs. G. M. Denning, Captain C. W. Maisey, Dr. and Mrs. Hargreaves, Mr. Leo Roet, and others.

HAIG STATUE IN WHITEHALL

Colonial Forces, officers training corps, Royal Military Academy, and Royal Military College, and the Royal Air Force attended, while the Territorial Army was represented by 720 all ranks selected on the basis of 50 a division (including the Anti-Aircraft Divisions), with the exception of the London units, whose representation was 70. The representative columns marched to their positions by bands from the three Services and the Metropolitan Police. A contingent of 2,000 ex-Servicemen represented the British Legion, the British Legion in Scotland, the Empire Service League, the Old Contemptibles, and regimental, Royal Marines, and Royal Air Force associations.

As far as possible the contingents were made up of personnel who served under Lord Haig. The 7th Hussars and the 17th Lancers, the two regiments in which he himself served, were represented by 50 men each from their Old Comrades' Associations and by two serving and two ex-Servicemen members of these regiments, who were posted at the four corners of the statue. Both the Regular troops and the British Legion provided guards of honour, which were inspected by the Duke of Gloucester at the beginning of the ceremony.

Owing to the limited accommodation available, Government invitations to the ceremony had been restricted to relatives of the late Field-Marshal, members of the Government, the Board of Admiralty, the Army Council, the Air Council, and officers who were closely associated with Lord Haig during his command of the British Army in France and Flanders.

The Duke of Gloucester, Field-Marshal the Duke of Connaught, the senior Field-Marshal, was represented by Field-Marshal Sir William Birdwood.

The pavement was opened to the public, with the exception of that portion in front of the Scottish Office and the part of the pavement immediately behind the guard of honour, which were occupied by the rear ranks of the band.

Before the unveiling the sculptor (Mr. A. F. Hardman, A.R.A.) was presented to the Duke of Gloucester by the First Commissioner of Works.

CLIPPER FARES REDUCED

Hong Kong to Honolulu—one way $40.00; round trip $65.00. The amazingly low round-trip fares are, in the case of Manila, a one-way reduced fare of $50.00 plus $15.00, and, in the other cases, one-way reduced fares plus $25.00. All of the above quoted rates are in United States currency.

It has also been pointed out that by travelling aboard a Clipper as far as Honolulu and a Matson liner from Honolulu to San Francisco, the round-trip to the United States could be made for $105.00. Tickets will be on sale until March 31, 1938, and are good for thirty days from date of departure from Hong Kong.

New impetus is being given to travel to the delightful resort islands Guam, Wake, and Midway, and, to add to the already existing attractions, Pan American Airways have reduced their hotel rates for those desiring to stop over at any one of the islands, to US$5.00 per day. Inclusive. Passengers who have completed the trans-Pacific trip have been profuse in their praises of service and accommodations at Pan American Airways hotels, and of the delightful climatic conditions and resort attractions to be enjoyed there, and it is believed that there are many who will take advantage of the opportunity to at last visit these stepping stones on the great trans-Pacific air route to the United States.

Pan American Airways, due to increased traffic between Hong Kong and Manila and with the additional stimulus given by reduction in fare from $108.00 to $55.00, round trip, are looking forward to capacity travel between these two points, both by tourists and by commercial travellers. Trips, as they have proven in the past, should also be popular to Honolulu and the Mainland.

For the sake of our ancestors and our duty to posterity we shall resist the aggressor. And in the just and rightful struggle for the preservation of our great race against the inhuman enemy we may lose ten times a million men, may have to base ourselves on far away Chengtu, Lanchow, or Urumchi in Sinkiang, but we shall be sure of victory even if we have to wage war for five years or more for the salvation of our Country, our People and our Party.
